

A Grand Free Offer!

CHIEFTAIN READERS MAY SECURE WITHOUT COST A YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO OKLAHOMA'S GREATEST FARM PAPER !!

FREE TO YOU! The Chieftain has just completed arrangements by which it can give absolutely FREE to each of its readers a full year's subscription to the Oklahoma Farm Journal. The offer is made only for a limited time and we would be glad to have every friend of the Chieftain take advantage of it at once. Thousands of Oklahoma folks believe that the Oklahoma Farm Journal is the best paper on earth, and, to speak frankly, they don't miss it very far. At any rate, it really is the best farm paper for Oklahoma farmers. It is just the paper that every Oklahoma farmer needs. It is printed at Oklahoma City, in the state of Oklahoma. Its columns are filled to running over with the liveliest and best of Oklahoma farm news. Its farm articles are written by Oklahoma farmers—men who know Oklahoma crops, Oklahoma soil and Oklahoma climate. It has departments for the home-maker, the poultry-raiser and the live-stock man, and its answers to "folks who want to know" are very valuable. If you are in doubt as to what to plant, when to plant, or why to plant, drop a line to the office and your kinks will be straightened out in the next issue—told in a way that all may understand. John Fields, the editor of the Oklahoma Farm Journal, is an old time Oklahoman, and when he "takes his pen in hand" to drop a line or two he knows just what he is going to write about and just what he ought to say in his article. Mr. Fields was director of the Oklahoma agricultural experiment station from 1889 to 1906. He is a practical farmer and is running a paper for practical farmers. The Oklahoma Farm Journal is your paper and you ought to have it in your home. This is not an advertisement. It is merely a tip from one who has studied the paper thoroughly and who knows its value. The Oklahoma Farm Journal is published twice a month. It contains twenty-four pages of well-written farm news. It is clearly printed on an excellent quality of book paper, and, in general appearance, is far superior to the average farm paper. It is a paper to be proud of, and every Oklahoma farmer who reads it really is proud of it.

Here Is Our Offer:

THE CHIEFTAIN wants you to have the Farm Journal. We believe it will do you good, and, we are going to give it to you, FREE. All that is necessary to secure it is to send us $1 to renew your subscription to the Chieftain and we will have your name placed for one year on the books of the Oklahoma Farm Journal. You do not pay us one cent extra—but, just what you would pay us anyway if you did not get the premium. Talk it over with your wife and see if she doesn't say, "Send the dollar now." The poultry and home-making departments will be worth a great deal to her—more than you would pay for both papers if you paid the regular price for each. If you are not now a reader of the Chieftain, send in a dollar and become one. We will have the Farm Journal sent to you just the same as if you were already on our books. The Chieftain is published for all the people of this section and we will treat everybody fair—we will treat you all alike.

Remember, the Time is Limited on This Offer. Let us Know at Once if You Want the Oklahoma Farm Journal FREE.
